ACTS is the Alliance of Communities Transforming Syracuse. We are an inter-faith, multi-racial, urban-suburban, diverse coalition of faith communities throughout the greater Syracuse area that organizes with the mission to address the social, economic, educational and political concerns of our communities. Through a process of dialogue, education, training and action, ACTS seeks to empower member faith communities to act on the shared values of human worth, dignity and justice.

Why Should I Attend This Training?

Whether you are a member of a faith community, a clergy member, or a leader of an organization, our unifying desire is to bring positive change to our communities. This training will equip you with the tools, techniques, principles and disciplines of community organizing to become an effective change agent in your community.

Through this powerful and inspiring workshop you will learn about “one on ones” and “core teams,” how to develop powerful working relationships, how to channel passion into action, and how to build effective teams within your congregation or organization.

Who Are the Trainers?

Mary Gonzalez, top community organizer and trainer in the Gamaliel Foundation.

Greg Galluzzo, founder and Executive Director of the Gamaliel Foundation.

Assisting with the training will be:

Andres Kwon, Lead Organizer of ACTS in Syracuse.

Eric Fergen, Lead Organizer of NOAH, a sister-affiliate of ACTS out of the Niagara Falls area.

The Gamaliel Foundation is a national community organizing institute working with over 60 affiliates throughout the United States, including ACTS. The mission of Gamaliel Foundation is to assist local community leaders to create, maintain and expand independent, grassroots and powerful faith-based community organizations so that ordinary people can impact the political, social, economic, and environmental decisions that affect their lives.
